POLICE WORK TO UNTANGLE MYSTERY OF WAIKIKI CRIME

EMPLOYEES AT J. B. CASTLE HOME AT WAIKIKI MAY BE MURDER VICTIMS

Japanese Believed Attacked With Hatchet—Police Declare Tragedy Most Brutal Case of Violence in Their Experience—Fujimoto, Brother-in-law and Guardian of Woman, Arrested—Said to Have Beaten Girl Previously—She is Unconscious at Hospital, and Fragmentary Statement Vague

Detectives, police officers, the deputy city and county attorney, in fact almost everyone connected with the city police system are this afternoon exerting every effort to unravel the mystery that surrounds the Waikiki tragedy discovered last night. W. Fujimoto is held without bail.

As the Star-Bulletin goes to press Deputy Asch gave the information that an entirely new clue, involving the same suspect, had been discovered and was being developed.

Although excitement over the fate of their countryman is running high among the Japanese residents and many have visited the jail to inquire for the latest details, no friends or relatives have come to see Fujimoto. Not even his wife has called on him, the police say.

Moto, a Japanese chauffeur, was hacked to death, probably with a hatchet, and Tome, his bride of a few weeks, fatally wounded at the J. B. Castle premises in Waikiki early this morning. Both were employees at the Castle residence. W. Fujimoto, brother-in-law and guardian of the woman, has been arrested.

"The most brutal murder ever committed in Honolulu," is the way police officials classify the tragedy. When Captain Arthur McDuffie and Deputy Sheriff Julius W. Asch were called to the scene about 2 o'clock they found the servants' room a veritable slaughter-house.

Investigation showed the man to be dead and the woman unconscious. They were both in bed, drenched in their own blood. There was evidence of a terrific struggle.

Dr. A. G. Hodgins was the first doctor called. The woman was rushed to the emergency hospital, where Police Surgeon R. G. Ayer rendered first aid. Now she is at the Queen's hospital, unconscious and probably dying.

Suspect is Arrested.

The police obtained information from Mr. Castle which leads them to suspect Fujimoto. He was arrested about 4 o'clock in his room off Kalaheua avenue, about a mile from the Castle home.

Deputy Asch, who has made a complete investigation of the case, for his report at the inquest, which will probably be held tomorrow, tells a concise story of the affair.

Police Report of Tragedy.

"Fujimoto is the brother-in-law and guardian of Tome," Asch says, "and I understand he has tied her up, beaten her severely and cut her hair off because he did not approve of her behavior. Mr. Castle took the girl as a servant to keep her away from Fujimoto, and just a few weeks ago she and Moto were married.

"Last night Fujimoto gave a party for four Japanese men and five Japanese women, among whom were Moto, Tome and her brother and two sisters. Apparently it was a 'love feast' to make up old differences, and Mr. Castle let Moto take the automobile to carry the guests to the party.

"We understand that the party broke up about 11 o'clock. Allowing Tome and Moto time to deliver the guests it must have been midnight or after before the victims were home and in bed. They must have been sound asleep when the assault took place. The car was in its proper stall this morning.

Chinese Makes Discovery.

"Ah Sing, a Chinese cook, was the first to discover the tragedy. He heard Tome moaning and upon investigating was ordered by her to 'tell boss'.

"When Mr. Castle called us he was under the impression that the people had been poisoned and that it had occurred at the Fujimoto party. Later he reported that there was either a murder or a suicide at his place.

"It couldn't possibly have been a suicide. The couple were attacked suddenly, left as dead or dying and entered, by the only door. There were large blotches of blood on the steps. Both victims must have been

MONEY-ORDERS OF PAIA DISAPPEAR; OFFICIALS PROBE

Japanese Complain for Months; Ask Consul-General to Take Up Their Case

MORRIS KEOHOKALO, POSTMASTER, IS AWAY

Return Awaited of Well-Known Maui Democrat, Delegate to St. Louis Convention

Complaints that money orders sent to Japan through the postoffice at Paia, Maui, have gone astray have been under investigation for months by the local postoffice authorities. It was learned today. Up to the present time no explanation of the reported disappearance of the money orders has been reached by the investigators, and both Postoffice Inspector T. J. Flavin and Frank W. Vaile, chief clerk of the railway mail service, said today that so far the probe has not fixed either responsibility or guilt.

Morris K. Keohokalo, prominent Democrat of Maui, and a delegate to the recent Democratic national convention at St. Louis, is the postmaster at Paia, and the postal authorities are awaiting his return from the mainland to take up with him the allegations that money orders entered at his office have not reached their destination. The majority of the Democratic delegates returned from the mainland weeks ago but Keohokalo did not return with them. National Committee Chairman J. H. Wilson said today that he does not know the Maui man's whereabouts.

No definite statement as to the amount of money involved was available today. A petition from Japanese of Paia arrived yesterday, directed to Consul-General Morol, asking that the consul take the case up with the post office people. Six petitioners sent down their receipts from the Paia office and declared that the money had never been received in Japan. From Maui Japanese comes the complaint that missing money orders amount to about $2000. At the Honolulu office the Star-Bulletin was informed today that a number of the complaints were not accompanied by receipts, so that the investigators do not know how much money is thought to be missing. Tracing the money orders has been made difficult and the absence of the postmaster has delayed a first-hand investigation at Paia.

Inspector Flavin says that some of the orders were issued at Paia many months ago. One case is said to go back to July, 1915. Tracing the paper through Washington as well as Japanese postal officials has proved a slow job. He said that if Keohokalo were here the probe would be taken up at once at Paia.

COKE LEADS AS POSSIBILITY IN STUART VACANCY

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—No selection has yet been made of a successor to Judge T. B. Stuart of the circuit court, Oahu. The matter has not been formally taken up as Attorney-General Gregory is leaving on a brief holiday. James L. Coke of Honolulu is the most prominently mentioned for the place. This arises partly from the fact that he stood in the front rank of possibilities for the district attorneyship. The situation is being carefully considered before a choice is made.

LOAN FUND COMMISSION ASSERTS ITS RIGHTS.
Several caustic remarks relative to Governor Pinkham's advice to the commission not to rush matters with the Hillebrand Glen project were made at the meeting of the Oahu Loan Fund Commission today.

Members said they believed the governor should be acquainted with the fact that the commission does not intend to rush blindly ahead, but to get all the facts relative to stream flow and cost of the project, so it could determine whether the project would be a good investment. Chairman Lester Petrie said he would tell the governor this.

The commission granted the request of H. Hackfield & Company by extending from August 15 to August 25 the date for opening bids on pipe, but turned down the company's petition for extension of time on delivery. James T. Taylor, as consulting engineer for the Hillebrand Glen project preliminary work, located the route and is assisting in drawing up plans and specifications. The governor's letter relative to the project was read and filed.

"I told the commission that the governor has his rights and the commission members have theirs, as concerns Hillebrand Glen matters," said Mayor Lane this afternoon. "The commission has the right to administer its funds according to its best judgment, and when that judgment conflicts with the governor's, the commission is perfectly free to carry out what it thinks best."

INTREPID EXPLORER BELIEVED SUMMERING ON ISLAND FAR NORTH

CAPT. VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 11.—The power schooner Gladiator, a relief vessel for the Canadian Arctic expedition, arrived here today from Herschel Island, on the edge of the Arctic circle. She comes to get supplies for Dr. Stefansson's expedition, but she brings no news of the intrepid explorer and his party, who are believed to be summering at Banks Island, near Melville Sound.

Stefansson was heard from last September, after a year and a half of silence, during which years were entertained for his safety. He is at the head of the Canadian Arctic expedition, which is exploring for a new continent believed to lie north of the American continent and west of the known American Arctic archipelago. So far as is known, he has only two companions at Banks Island. He expects to continue work for another year and a half.

DOCTOR SCUDDER GOING TO JAPAN, IS BELIEF HERE

Intimations Are His Resignation Will Be Presented to Church Next Sunday

Dr. Doremus Scudder, pastor of Central Union church, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Foreign church in Tokio, Japan, tendered him some weeks ago, according to intimations which have reached the Star-Bulletin from persons in close touch with the affairs of the local church.

A communication from Dr. Scudder, who is spending his vacation in the Maine woods, was received in the last mail by officers of the church committee. This letter, which is to be read to the congregation of Central Union next Sunday morning, is believed to contain Dr. Scudder's resignation as well as the notification that he has accepted the Japanese call.

The report that Dr. Scudder has accepted the call to Japan could not be officially confirmed today, although intimations from several sources point strongly to the affirmative. Dr. Scudder is expected to return to Honolulu the latter part of this month. Dr. Scudder has been pastor of Central Union for many years and his resignation would mean a loss not only to the church but to the entire community. A profound student of the Japanese language, customs, religion and politics, Dr. Scudder recently was called to the mainland to take a prominent part in a nation-wide campaign to promote a more thorough understanding of the Japanese.
